About Rishi Shukla

Rishi was born in 1966 in Alambagh area of Lucknow, the City of Nawabs. He was fifth in a family of 8 siblings.

As a proud recipient of the National Talent Scholarship, Rishi did his schooling till Class 12th at the prestigious Yadavindra Public School, Patiala. There he also picked his first love, the Urdu language. He developed a deep interest and understanding of Urdu poetry, particularly by Mirza Ghalib and Sahir Ludhianvi. His command over Urdu spilled over naturally to those who spent even a small amount of time with him. A lot of his friends and family owe their appreciation of ghazals and Urdu to him.

Being an expert at cracking the toughest competitive exams from the very beginning, getting to MMMUT was a piece of cake for him. Here, he studied Electrical Engineering from 1985 to 1989. He was sought for by his class fellows for his uncanny ability to explain the most complex concepts and problems with certain simplicity. He was always there to help others, even if it meant his not being able to complete his own studies.

Continuing his success story after graduation, he got selected for the Indian Engineering Services in his first attempt. But he will not settle for anything less than the Indian Telecom Services and therefore he got enrolled at Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi for pursuing M. Tech. in Computer Science. By the end of 1992, he had completed his M. Tech. and also had secured himself a spot in the Indian Telecom Services through the IES examination.

He was serving as DGM (Networks) at BSNL, Lucknow when the cruel hands of fate snatched him away from all of us in 2008 after a protracted illness. His wife Sangeeta and son Uttkarsh carry his message forward.
